Senator Smith said that he did not oppose the principle of the direct primary, but that he did not indorse the bill as presented to the consideration of the Senate; that, instead of having remedies for the troubles of discovering and following out the will of the people, it provided apparent ways in which it could be used to militate against the general welfare of the people, "Deputy Attorney General Whitney, who drew up the bill introduced by Senator Chillingworth, appeared before the committee, as the interpreter of its propassed Enabling Act No. 2 on first

Senate Routine.

were not in their seats when the Senate convened for the twenty-second day of its session yesterday morning, the absent ones being Senators Kalama, Woods and Robinson.

A reply was received from territorial

Treasurer Campbell in response to the request of the Senate embodied in a resolution, asking that he furnish a list of all tax delinquents and an explanation of the general reasons for the noncollection of taxes due and owing to the Territory.

Treasurer Campbell's reply to the request of the Senate was a lengthy one and deals with the questions in an ex-haustive manner. Clerk Savidge had haustive manner. Clerk Savidge had read a portion of the letter when Sen-ator Knudsen moved that it be re-ferred to the Printing Committee—that it was too long to be read in its entirety and could be more intelligently considered when each Senator was pro-vided with a copy. The action sug-gested by Senator Knudsen was taken.

Validating Bill. The Judiciary Committee submitted a favorable report on Senate Bill No. 61, an act to provide for validating all incorporation under charters grant-ed by the Treasurer of the Territory "with the consent of the Governor, or by the predecessors in office."

In the language of the committee sport, the object of the bill is to validate the railroads whose charters have been made invalid by the decision of the Supreme Court in re Pearl Harbor Traction Company."

The select committee on election laws, to which was referred Senate Bill No. 8, the direct primary measure introduced by Senate Chillingworth, presented a report, stating that it had given "its earnest consideration" to the bill and also to a similar measure prepared by the Civic Federation. The report stated that Senate Bill No. 8, had been drafted by Deputy At-torney General Whitney and "your committee feels that the information which he has on the subject had better be given by him to the Senate in com-mittee of the whole." The committee further recommended that the Senate sit as committee of the whole in the Encouragement to Delinquents, The Public Lands Committee lopped the heads off of three of Coney's bills yesterday, these being bills to carry out the wishes of the Department of Public Works to run the waterworks of Honolulu on a business basis. These were House Bills 110, 111, and 71, making rules for the collection of water rates, allowing the installation of water me-ters to check waste and otherwise bringing it within the power of the department to bring up the revenue from waterworks and improve the service. The reports from Kaleiopu's commit-tee denounced each of the bills as hardships upon the poor" and recommended their tabling. This is a con-sistent carrying out of the policy of a majority of the House to make it easy to avoid the payment of just debts to the government.

Impounding Fee Bill Passes.

The same committee favored the pas-sage of House Bill 123, Kawewehi, which allows a fee of four bits a head on all cattle impounded if found at large on the public roads.

Waterworks for Counties.

The Public Lands committee was distinetly in favor of Moanauli's bill to empower County Boards of Supervisors to establish and maintain waterworks systems, a report from the committee saying that it "is of the opinion as suggested by Our Honorable Governor's message to the Legislature, that certain public utilities * * should be under the control and supervision of the sev-

Logan's Cargo to Be Shifted.

Starting early this morning, or as soon as a formal contract for the job is made, the greater portion of the Logan's cargo will be dumped into local bottoms and taken ashore. Over a thousand tons of freight, which consists in the main of commissary stores, will be lifted from the hold of the Army transport, and it is generally conceded by waterfronters of authority that this will so lighten the forward section of the vessel that she can be pulled from her precarious position without any great difficulty. That this is what should have been done the day following the pileup on the wrong side of the harbor is the general opinion among many, and a considerable lot of barsh criticism has been heard regard-Rev. Dr. Doremus Scudder. John Emmelath was also invited to participate in the discussion.

The nature of the questions that were propouncied to Mr. Whitney indicated that the majority of the upper house of the Legislature view a direct primary law with something akin to suspicion.

The skull was with the rest of the skeleton when first discovered last week by a butcher boy who chased a epart- mongoose through the bushes off the from Kahana road. He reported that a whole skeleton was there. When Deputy Sheriff Rose found the remains, the skull was not there. It was learned later that a boy in the neighborhood was in possession of a skull. The boy states that he saw the skeleton there and brought away the skull, not thinking about reporting his find to the police.
